Local Competition

Competition For Everyone

Local events make up

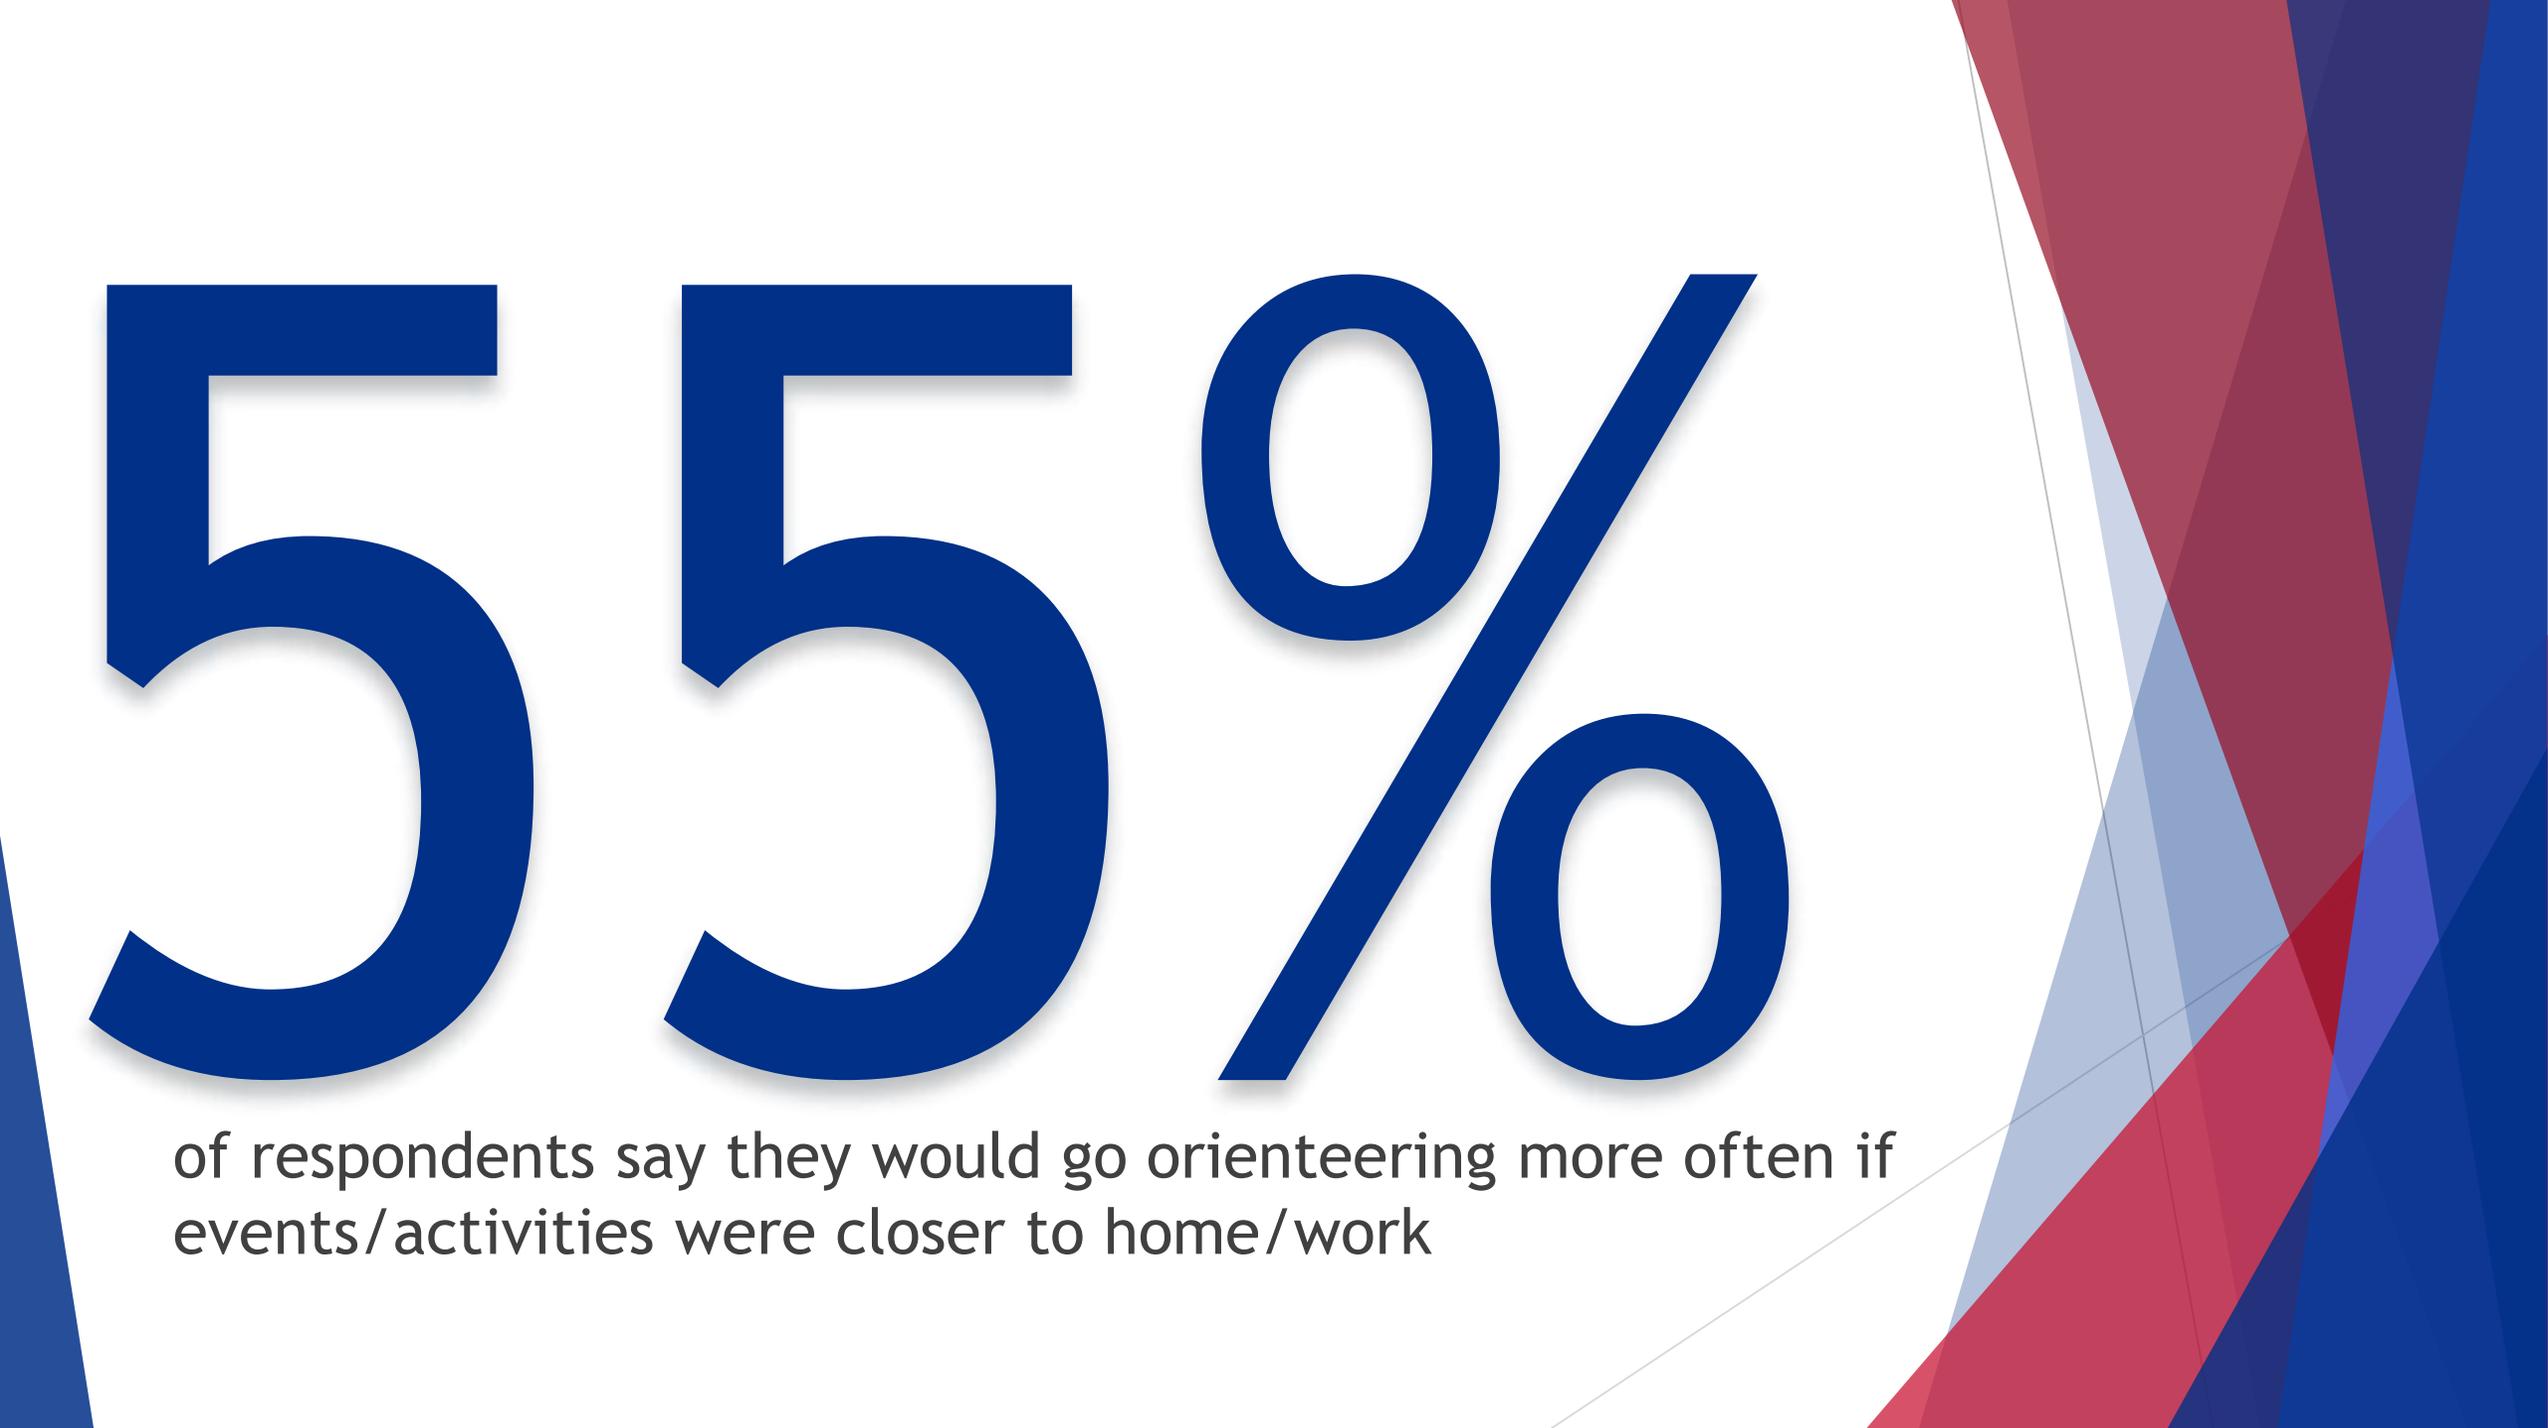

80%

of all events

30%

of members have not participated at regional level or above

55%

of respondents say they would go orienteering more often if events/activities were closer to home/work

55%

of respondents say they would go orienteering more often if there were more regular events/activities

Are you a local orienteer?

How do we know what local orienteers want
from orienteering?

How can we better
design local orienteering to meet the needs of local orienteers?

What is Sporteering?

The Sporteering™ Platform has been developed over that last 2 year.

It is split into 2 parts;

1. Phone APP working on iOS and Android
2. Planning Portal – web based so works on any web enabled device.

PHONE APP

Phone APP working on iOS and Android

The APP is where we started this journey. The concept was to create a Scoring and timing system that recorded your location. There are 2 methods for recording position

1. By scanning a prepositioned QR code
2. By taking your current GPS location

Both have pros and cons.

Scanning QR code

Pros-

- Location accuracy is guaranteed
- Quick to produce the QR codes
- Can be re-located if necessary
- Competitors are certain when they arrive at the control

Cons-

- Takes time to layout the course
- Controls , if in situ for long periods can be damaged or removed
- Visual and environmental impact
- Cost

Scanning GPS

Pros-

- Quick and easy to create a course from the desktop – especially with good on the ground knowledge
- Appropriate tolerance levels make it easy for competitors to achieve the control
- No environmental impact – markers, clippers etc
- No one can tamper with the controls
- Available worldwide

Cons-

- GPS accuracy varies from area to area
- In steep valleys or under trees it can be very inaccurate
- In cities accuracy can be variable
- An understanding of the “Tolerance” is essential to a good course

Create an Event

This is the Start point for any new event

Most of the details are self explanatory but a couple to be aware of;

START DATE: This the date you want it to be available to people to download.

GPS Accuracy (m): This is the tolerance you want to set the GPS to, so at 100 = within 50 mtrs of the control point.

Days: the number of days for the hours set in the next section. This section is for use with multi-day events e.g. OMM or HTT550

Max Number hrs: The length of the event, if it's a permanent course then a reasonable time for a family to get around

Add (or edit) Controls

This is the heart of creating a course and has been created in such a way to make vey easy

First Control: Create Control

Control Page allows you to add all the required details

Description: As short but meaningful as possible

Points: Number of points but it must be greater than 0 to register

Lat & Long: If these are known just enter them or View Map

Map View: Move the Push-pin from the meridian to somewhere near your desired location. Zoom in and place more accurately. Save

Start/Finish /Both: Tick the appropriate check box.

Clone Controls

Rather than creating new controls it is easier to copy the previous one and then change its location, value and Start/Finish designation.

Clone

Events Dropdown: select which of your events to clone from, then.

Controls Dropdown: select which control to clone

Save

From Controls Page: Edit | Delete

Change the copied control to the correct location then

Repeat until all the controls are created.

Basically that's it!

Where to Next

As Technology advances there are greater opportunities to use this type of Application.

Control Markers will get smaller

GPS will increase in accuracy

Recording devices will get smaller, more compact and robust

And the most important feature is that the current generation who use these devices will be accept or maybe expect to use them in their sporting activities.

Where does it Fit into Orienteering

Currently there are some 700 fixed or permanent courses throughout the UK managed by local Orienteering clubs
Some are used a little and some a lot.
Who knows?

If the courses were digitised on the Sporteering™ Platform then a steady stream of data will flow in;

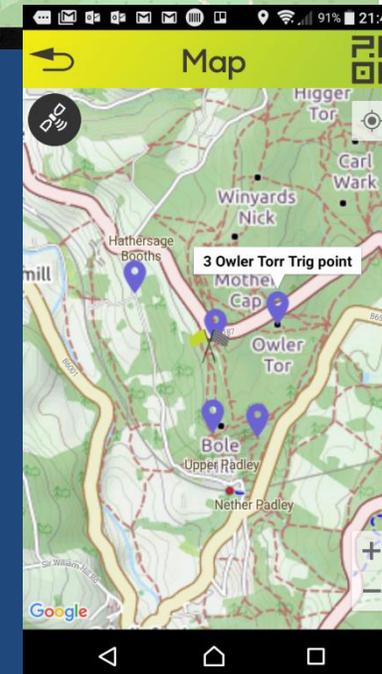

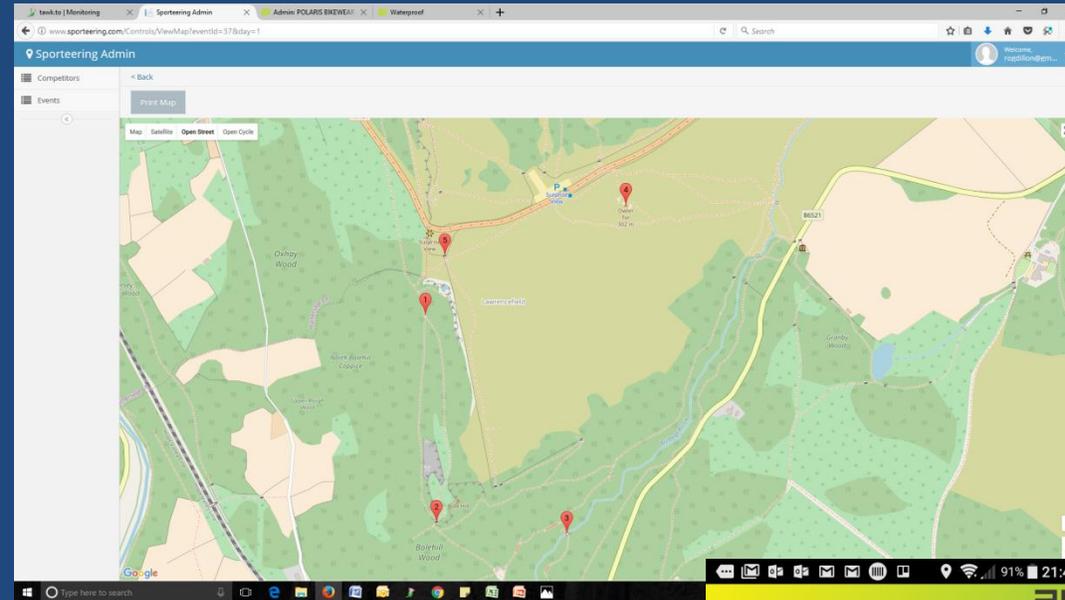

Age, gender, time of year etc

Also if a control goes missing it could be seen by its lack of use.

The APP can also be used to drive income streams to the clubs and the sites that adopt them.

With access to user data better courses can be created perhaps in more accessible areas – “Urban adventure trails” or inner city parks.

The list is endless and limited only to your imagination
